Professor W. H. Mustard,
Johns Hopkins University,
Baltimore.

Dear Professor Mustard:

We have an invitation from Princeton University inviting us to send a delegate to be present at the dedication of the Graduate College on Wednesday, October 22nd. There is no one on our staff whom we can very well send at that time. What would you think of representing us at the function? Would it be possible for you to get away? If so, you would be doing us a great favour.

I have written to Mr. Thomson and have told him that I have asked you to act as our representative. Will you kindly communicate with him (H. D. Thomson, Box 210, Princeton University) directly?

Yours sincerely,

President.

My dear Professor Mustard:

I am very glad to know that you will act as our delegate at the dedication of the Graduate College of Princeton University on October 22nd. Will you kindly convey to the University our congratulations on the event, and express the hope that it is the beginning of a new era in the long and distinguished history of the University at Princeton?

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

My dear Professor Mustard:

Many thanks for your letter together with the account of the opening of the Graduate School at Princeton in which I have been much interested. I read your letter to the Editor of the Alumni Monthly, and he asked me whether it would be possible to get you to give him a short article for "The Monthly" on this event. Your letter to me was I judge too personal to be made use of in such an article, though certainly it would make interesting reading.

Had you any expenses in connection with the visit that you would like me to have paid? We are much indebted to you for undertaking the work for us, and I am glad to know that you yourself enjoyed the visit.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

President R. A. Falconer,
Toronto,

My dear President Falconer:

My expenses in connection with the Princeton dedication were not very heavy, and I am quite content to let them go in as part of the first service I have been able to do my own university in years.

About the University Monthly, I am afraid I can't be so dutiful. I have thought over the suggestion, but feel that, for various reasons, I must decline.

I saw our new "Academic Building" at Homewood yesterday. It has grown so far that they are now putting on the roof. And a good start has been made on another large building for our new College of Engineering. Some day we shall have to do some dedicating ourselves, and I hope that you may be here to see.

Yours very truly,

Wilfred P. Mustard

Dear Professor Mustard:

Many thanks for your letter. It is very good of you to have gone for us to Princeton at your own expense and we appreciate your kindness.

I think I can perhaps understand your reluctance to write a letter to "The Montly" in view of the impression that you seem to have received from the opening ceremonies.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
